

Speaker: B. Anne Hancock, PsyD

Topic: The State of Our Unions in Business, Marriage, Dating and Beyond

Everyone understands relationships are what matter most. They are foundational in business AND at home because, as humans, we are hardwired to connect. Yet, we struggle, both individually and collectively.

So it's essential to know there are three simple ingredients that make it easier to love yourself and those around you; to love your work and your whole life.

If you have a vision of what you want and find yourself asking 'How do I keep it all going?' or 'What's it going to take to make this work?' you are not alone. Anne will share clear, simple solutions and provide a glimpse into emerging 21st century relationships.

This is a conversation about Connection and the ONE quality that brings people closer every time!

About B. Anne Hancock Psy.D.

Founder of Wellness Counseling Center, Anne Hancock, is committed to helping people connect.

Anne is a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist and specializes in working with couples and their families. She is especially adept at working with dual career couples and those in family businesses. She always works from a No-Blame / No-Pathology point of view. Helping couples connect is her passion and purpose.

Anne is a Clinical Fellow and Life Member of the International Center for Excellence in Emotionally Focused Therapy (ICEEFT) and an approved AAMFT Supervisor. She is also a clinical fellow of the following professional associations: California Association for Marriage & Family Therapy (CAMFT), North Carolina Association for Marriage & Family Therapy (NCAMFT) and the American Association for Marriage & Family Therapy (AAMFT).

Wellness Counseling Center uses a scientific, evidence based method while providing the Gold Standard in couples therapy.

TheWellnessCounselingCenter.com

704-319-5593

Anne@TheWellnessCounselingCenter.com